Police identify webcam victim

► Overseas friend who had been chatting with woman before she was attacked told friends in Toronto she needed help

A manhunt continues today for an assailant seen struggling with a woman on a webcam hours before her lifeless body was found Friday in a north-end apartment.

Police identified the victim yesterday as Qian Liu, 23, from Beijing, China.

The suspect is white, aged 20 to 30, about six feet tall and 175 to 200 pounds with a muscular build. He has medium-length brown hair, messy at the front and groomed at the back, and was wearing a blue crewneck T-shirt.

Two police cruisers remained yesterday outside the home on Aldwinckle Heights, where the woman was found dead in her basement apartment.

Officers were letting residents back in to the upstairs apartments, but the basement unit remained sealed with the curtains drawn.

Police still have not released a cause of death.

Investigators say she was chatting with a friend overseas via webcam when a man entered her apartment and began to struggle with her. The witness alerted friends in Toronto, who called police. They found the victim, naked from the waist down, at 11 a.m. Friday.

Det.-Sgt. Frank Skubic said the witness saw some of the struggle, but some of the interaction took place out of the camera's range. "The male (then) turned off the deceased's laptop computer," Skubic said.

The computer — believed to be an IBM T400 ThinkPad — is missing and police are anxious to recover it. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Students bluff their way to Scrabble glory

Never mind poker face.

It was the deadpan Scrabble face — while pulling off the entirely bogus seven-letter gem “carnate” for 87 points — that helped two Scarborough Grade 8 students win $5,000 each in a tournament that seemed as much about bluffing as building word power.

The pair from Jack Miner Senior Public School beat more than 400 students from across North America to win the National School Scrabble Championship this past weekend in Florida against the reigning champs from Windham, N.H.

“We used one ‘phony’ (word) and they used two, but if you challenge the other team and you’re wrong, you lose a turn,” said Jackson Smylie, 13, who had memorized 1,000 seven-letter words, each of which is worth a 50-point bonus for using all seven letters, a trick they call “bingo” in Scrabble.

Things got heated when the Windham team used the word “griefed” and Jackson’s partner, Alex Li, 14, thought it was fake. It’s real, Jackson countered.

“But after we learned Alex was right; it was a phoney,” Jackson said. “Luckily we were too far ahead for it to matter.”

Kearn Nedd had fists of steel and a heart of gold.

His hands were taking him to stardom as a professional mixed martial artist. But his heart led him to intervene in a weekend robbery that cost him his life.

The Brampton man was gunned down Saturday when two intruders burst into a Saturday afternoon poker game at a banquet hall near Dixie Road and Steeles Avenue West.

“He died a hero,” said pal Bojan Kladnjakovic, who trained with Nedd, 28, at Mississauga’s Kombat Arts Training Academy.

Nedd, the middle of three children and known to family members as “Kee-Kee,” was dedicated to his career in the ring, said former trainer Dave Edwards.

“He always inspired those around him to great things,” Edwards recalled. “He was always a standup guy.”

Private garbage pickup may trash 300 city jobs

► Report needs committee approval next week, followed by council approval in May

None of Mayor Rob Ford's foes, including CUPE Local 416, can say how they would halt his push to dramatically expand private garbage pickup and eliminate 300 city jobs.

The magnitude of the cut — the 300 are “temporary” employees, who lack job security — and the timing — an extra 165,000 households west of Yonge Street could have private pickup as early as August 2012 — were revealed yesterday by senior city managers.

It affirms Coun. Denzil Minnan-Wong's projection of $8 million in annual savings, which he touted in early February when the city officially notified Local 416 about its intention to outsource some of its garbage services.

The report says the current cost of picking up trash and recycling is $118.69 per home in Etobicoke, where Turtle Island Recycling workers do collection, compared with $129.04 to $171.52 in other districts, where it's done by city employees.

Justin Trudeau campaigns contested GTA ridings

Some may regard her as toxic, but for all her very public nanny troubles Ruby Dhalla is still a Liberal.

And if you ask Justin Trudeau, she's still his friend. She's also an embattled incumbent in a GTA riding the party desperately wants not to lose.

For that reason, if for no other, Trudeau and a chorus line of Liberal stars are dropping in on Dhalla's Brampton-Springdale riding this week in an effort to rally her supporters and promote her cause. Leader Michael Ignatieff himself is expected today.

Trudeau, one of the most recognizable Liberals in the country, was in Dhalla's riding yesterday morning as part of a one-day tour of the GTA that saw him parachute into seven ridings in eight hours, lending his name recognition to Liberal efforts.

“It was important to come and show my support to Ruby,” Trudeau said during a speech at Dhalla's campaign headquarters. “She is an important and valued member of our team.”

From Brampton-Springdale, Trudeau ventured east to Bramalea-Gore-Malton for breakfast with Gurbax Malhi, the Liberal incumbent there, before hitting York Centre (Ken Dryden's riding), Oak Ridges-Markham, Ajax-Pickering, Scarborough-Rouge River and Trinity-Spadina.

Unlike Stephen Harper, Michael Ignatieff and Jack Layton, who are flying around the countryside in private jets accompanied by a travelling road show of supporters, Trudeau came to Toronto alone and spent the day being sped from one end of the GTA to the other in a 10-year-old Toyota Camry.

4 suspects sought after girl, 13, assaulted

Toronto police are investigating after reports that a 13-year-old girl was pulled into a closet at an all-ages event Friday and sexually assaulted by four 16-year-old men.

According to police, the girl was at an event near Kipling Avenue and Finch Avenue West when, just before midnight, she was pulled into a storage closet by one man and sexually assaulted by four men.

Police said security personnel interrupted the assault and the four suspects fled.

All four are described as black. One, who is about six feet tall, was wearing a grey toque. Another was wearing a black leather jacket, while one other suspect was wearing green.

'Winning' the popular vote

- Charlie Sheen more recognizable than candidates in Canadian federal election, according to informal poll
- More than half, 60 per cent, could not recognize Green party Leader Elizabeth May by name or party affiliation
- Only 35 per cent could identify all the federal politicians along with Sheen by name

And the next prime minister of Canada is ... Charlie Sheen?

In an informal survey conducted by Metro Toronto in the downtown core, more people recognized the image of Charlie Sheen than Canada's federal party leaders.

A wide range of participants were asked to identify the photos of Stephen Harper, Michael Ignatieff, Jack Layton and Elizabeth May. The wild card, Charlie Sheen, was also thrown in the bunch.

Overall, the majority of Torontonians surveyed could name at least one of the federal leaders and identify their party affiliation. ● KYLA SERGEJEV/FOR METRO

SEAN KILPATRICK/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Stephen Harper
Conservative party

Not too shabby, the prime minister was correctly identified by 90 per cent of those surveyed, though a handful of participants cringed when they saw his photo and called him a crook.

NATHAN DENETTE/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Michael Ignatieff
Liberal party

The Liberal leader also took some heat, one woman saying she doesn't like Ignatieff, what he stands for and would never vote for him. Iggy was identified 88 per cent of the time, but 20 per cent of those who answered correctly could not pronounce his name.

FRANK GUNN/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Elizabeth May
Green party

The least recognizable of the bunch, May falls to the back of the pack. Only 40 per cent of participants knew her name and just 20 per cent could identify which party she belonged to. One person asked if she was a member of the Liberal party.

Jack Layton
New Democratic Party

Layton was named by 73 per cent of participants, landing him in fourth place. He was also called "George Layton" and "the guy who had cancer."

Charlie Sheen
One Man Show

Nearly everyone could name the former Two And A Half Men star. With an almost perfect score of 95 per cent, Sheen stole the show. Only two people could not remember his name, but said "he's that actor."

It shouldn't take 14 years to reunite a family.

The Harper government claims to support family reunification for immigrants, but they have actually made it harder. A parent or grandparent could spend up to 14 years separated from their family.

And that's too long – especially for elderly relatives who may not have much time left. If this isn't happening to you, it is happening to someone you know. You can help reunite families sooner.

Vote for the candidate who supports family reunification in the upcoming federal election.

Daycare abuse reports stalled by privacy issue

VINCE TALOTTA/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

► New Democrats say it's 'hard to believe' battle with the privacy commissioner has lasted four years

It's "unacceptable" that Ontario hasn't met a 2007 promise to widely publish reports on inspections and serious incidents at daycare centres, Education Minister Leona Dombrowsky said yesterday.

But while she has ordered staff to make sure inspection reports and daycare licences are posted online "within a month" to help parents assess their child-care options, Dombrowsky set no deadline for posting reports on incidents such as abuse, mistreatment, injury or deaths,

"This is about privacy of individuals who may have been involved in a particular incident in a child-care facility."

blaming privacy issues.

"The government has failed miserably," New Democrat Leader Andrea Horwath said after the broken promise was revealed in a Toronto Star story.

"Parents have a right to know ... what kinds of incidents have occurred so that they can make appropriate choices," Horwath added.

Dombrowsky said her ministry has been working with Ontario's privacy commissioner to determine how the information can be released.

"We are committed to making sure that families have it, but we want to make sure that when we do, it is provided in a way that is also sensitive."

Attack ad to be fixed: Iggy

► But Liberal leader is making no apologies for his 'vigorous defence' of health care ► Says Conservatives have been attacking him in their ads for months

The Liberals say they will amend an attack ad on health care that misquotes Prime Minister Stephen Harper, but the thrust of the message won't change. Leader Michael Ignatieff, campaigning yesterday in Yellowknife, acknowledged the need to correct the record if the ad does indeed misquote the prime minister.

"I've had five years of malicious selective misquotation of my work, but that is no excuse," he said after touring a training facility. "If there is misquotation in any campaign, then that's not acceptable. The fact that they did it to me doesn't make it acceptable if we find that something's inaccurate in our ad."

The ad, which has been airing on TV for a week, accuses Harper of saying the Canada Health Act should be scrapped.

The Conservatives said the comments actually belong to David Somerville, the former head of the National Citizens Coalition, and demanded the Liberals pull the ad and offer an apology.

"They dish it out but they can't take it. And we're saying, 'Gloves off, let's have a real serious debate on this issue.'"

LIBERAL LEADER MICHAEL IGNATIEFF ON HEALTH CARE

The Liberals plan to provide Canadians with a list of Harper quotes on health care and let them decide which one is the "worst," said a spokeswoman for Ignatieff. THE CANADIAN PRESS

No local promises: Harper

Stephen Harper's vision of a strong and free Far North ran up against northern reality yesterday.

Even as he re-announced a promise to complete an all-season highway in the Arctic, he said funding a drug treatment centre for poor and addicted north-erners isn't a promise he should make.

"In terms of specific infrastructure investments that need to be made in this area, I always say during a campaign, I don't make the local commitments. That's up to individual candidates to make and to bring those priorities to Ottawa," Harper replied to the only question he took from a northern reporter.

Crime rates in the North are far higher than elsewhere in the country and substance abuse is a wide-spread problem.

Dissent. Yemen

Women stand so president may fall

Security forces fired on anti-government protesters in Yemen's capital Sunday as hundreds of thousands of marchers — including many women — packed cities around the country to denounce the president and remarks he made against women taking part in rallies demanding his ouster.

SIMPLY REDHEADS

Rumour has it that women tend to favour men of the tall, dark and handsome variety.

I, on the other hand, have a thing for redheads. Yes, that's right, I'm not afraid to admit that I would take freckle-faced Ron Weasley over Harry Potter any day of the week. In fact, I've been in a relationship with a ginger-haired man for more than three years — before you cringe, think Prince Harry not Carrot Top.

Redheads elicit passionate reactions; they are both demonized and fetishized by the plain-haired majority. Whether strawberry blond, burnt orange or deep burgundy it seems people have a pretty definite opinion when it comes to redheads.

Throughout history, redheads have been persecuted and stereotyped as angry, untrustworthy and, occasionally, satanic. Mythology links red hair to witchcraft and vampires, while Biblical bad guys Judas Iscariot, Eve (as in Adam and ...) and Mary Magdalene are frequently depicted as redheads.

Today, natural redheads account for less than four per cent of the world's population and less than two per cent in North America. There are plenty of stereotypes surrounding this genetic minority. Red-haired adults are assumed to be hot tempered, promiscuous and unpredictable (here's looking at you Lindsay Lohan) while young gingers are stigmatized as mischievous devil children, ostracized and mercilessly taunted for their pallor and fiery hair.

Yes, growing up ginger certainly isn't easy. In 2008, the RCMP launched an investigation after a 14-year-old boy started a "Kick a Ginger" Facebook group encouraging kids to terrorize crimson-haired classmates. The group, which nearly 5,000 people joined, was allegedly inspired by the now infamous "Ginger Kids" episode of South Park in which a character describes redheads as "disgusting, inhuman, soulless and inherently dumb."

Not only the victims of emotional and physical abuse, redheads also have a number of physiological shortcomings. Unique pigmentation makes their skin more susceptible to sunburn, wrinkles and skin cancer.

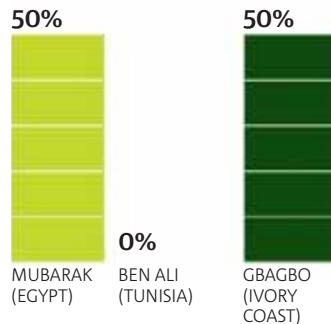

Given all of these genetic disadvantages it's perhaps unsurprising that rumours of redhead endangerment have started circulating. Redhead survivalists panicked after a not-so-scientific study warned that redheads might face extinction as early as 2060. In reality, while occurrences of red hair may be on the decline, there is no real evidence to suggest that our ginger friends will die out any time soon.

There is perhaps no hair colour more polarizing than red, but as far as I'm concerned the only problem with redheads is there aren't enough of them.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands. Hair today, gone tomorrow.

A judge has asked lawyers next time they appear before her at the International Criminal Court.

A handful of attorneys appeared yesterday in traditional black gowns and white horsehair wigs for a preliminary hearing in a case dealing with violence after Kenya's disputed 2007 presidential election.

Justice Ekaterina Trendafilova paused briefly at the end of the hearing to pass a hair-raising judgment.

"This is not the dress code of this institution," she said.

"In this quite warm weather maybe it will be more convenient to be without wigs," she added with a smile.

It is unusual for lawyers to appear at the International Criminal Court in wigs, but not unheard of. At least three lawyers wore wigs April 8 during the initial appearance of three Kenyan suspects, without Justice Trendafilova issuing any dress code guidelines.

Coming soon: Dancing With The Politicians

A moonwalking politician might not be the best reason to pay attention to Romanian politics, but the antics seem to be working.

Edmond Talmacean, a 40-year-old Bucharest politician, has inspired national headlines with his Michael Jackson-inspired moonwalk on a television show and his impersonations of the late dictator Nicolae Ceausescu. His impersonation of a well-known sports commentator during a serious political debate also stunned other lawmakers into silence.

"Dancing is another kind of political message to appeal to the younger generation, that it is good to have fun ... that you can go to a disco and dance," Talmacean told The Associated Press yesterday.

Party bosses, however, say enough is enough and have ordered him to tone down.

Prime Minister Emil Boc declared the routine was more suited to "showbiz" than politics, while Vasile Blaga of the Democratic Liberal Party said the fringe lawmaker should head over to the TV program Dancing With The Stars.

Just as it was before the April 20, 2010, accident when the Deepwater Horizon oil rig exploded, ultimately spewing 651 million litres of oil, the Gulf continues to be a place of contradictions.

The surface looks as if nothing ever happened while potentially big problems are hidden deep below the surface, in hard-to-get-to marshes and in the slow-moving food web.

Scientists judge the overall health of the Gulf of Mexico as nearly back to normal one year after the BP oil spill, but with glaring blemishes that restrain their optimism about nature's resiliency, an Associ-

Home Depot reconsiders policy after dog attack

Anne Riel used to enjoy greeting the dogs that came into the Gloucester, Ont., Home Depot with their owners.

But since the Home Depot greeter was bitten in the face by a shih tzu, the store is reconsidering its policy on dogs.

"Currently, dogs are allowed in stores as long as they're under control by their owner — this is a policy we're now re-looking at," manager of public relations for Home Depot Tiziana Baccaga said yesterday.

YouTube star happy about Glee return

► Singer Charice Pempengco is set to reprise the role of Sunshine Corazon in Glee.

► Fan support helped bring Charice back to hit Fox show ► Self-confessed 'Glee' will tackle Eric Carmen's All By Myself in episode

SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

For viral music sensation Charice Pempengco, appearing on Glee is a bit more than just another singing gig.

"I'm a Gleeek," confesses the singer, 18, who goes by the professional name of simply Charice. "So being on the show — it's very exciting. I think it's one of the show's goal — to help teenagers make their dreams come true. It's been amazing."

It's also been a pretty amazing ride for the Philippines-born Charice, whose rose to fame at 13 when YouTube footage of her singing performances became a sensation. Appearances on Ellen and Oprah followed, leading to last fall's first appearance on Glee as the pint-sized diva rival Sunshine Corazon.

Still, despite all that success, it was never a given that'd she'd return to the Glee fold. Charice says the overwhelming support of Glee fans on the internet definitely played a part in her return. "It's one of the reasons I'm back. I've been reading all their comments. Happy to see they're excited."

The singer credits her mom with recognizing her singing talent at a very early age.

"My mother is a vocalist in a band. And she came home to see me singing on the top of the table — Celine Dion's My Heart Will Go On. So she discovered me."

On this week's Glee, Charice will tackle another Dion concert standard — Eric Carmen's All By Myself.

"I was so happy when they gave me that song to sing. I've been singing it forever. I love that song."

Beyond this week's episode, Charice again claims to be in the dark about when and if her character will return for a third time.

"I don't know if she (Sunshine) turns into a spy or starts helping the Glee club. I'm really excited to do more, but I don't know what happens after this."

Glee airs Tuesdays on Global.

The Royal cake details have arrived

- ▶ Kate and Will have opted for two wedding cakes
- ▶ One is sentimental, the other traditional

It's only fitting that a future king and queen would have two wedding cakes — a chocolate biscuit cake (William's childhood favourite) and a classic fruitcake (Kate's pick).

Unlike Kate's dress, details of the royal couple's cake have been revealed by Leicestershire baker, Fiona Carins.

There will be plenty of tiers, white and cream shades, and a long list of about 16 to 17 sugar flowers (which all have a special meaning to the pair) are to be incorporated.

To create a regal wedding cake of your own, try a three-tiered cake with a simple posy at the top surrounded by gorgeously pressed florals — beautiful and won't break the bank.

► Custody fight keeps her out of role in drama

Halle Berry is bowing out of her Broadway debut, The Mountaintop, which was set to open in September, according to the New York Times. Producers of the show say Berry will "not be appearing in the role due to child-custody issues." Berry has been engaged in a bitter custody dispute with ex-partner Gabriel Aubry over their three-year-old daughter, Nahla. The play, which stars Samuel L. While he admits a reconciliation isn't likely with estranged wife Courteney Cox, David Arquette doesn't want to badmouth the former Friends star.

"She's my best friend and she's the mother of my child. I love her with all my heart," he tells Hollyscoop. But Arquette admits the split has been hardest on the couple's five-year-old daughter, Coco.

"This sort of thing is really difficult with kids, especially with it being in the media," he says. "Just all the factors, we're dealing with it. We're trying to learn, we're doing the best we can."

Sheen's ex Brooke enters rehab

While ex-husband Charlie Sheen tours the country and argues with his former bosses, Brooke Mueller has checked herself back into rehab after an eventful week, according to TMZ.

Mueller reportedly refused to submit to a drug test Friday required to maintain custody of her children with Sheen, two-year-old twins Max and Bob.

Her stint in rehab is said to be a precautionary measure in case Sheen's lawyers use her refusal to take a test against her.

Lohan could get 3 years

Lindsay Lohan is apparently weighing her legal options, as the actress' lawyers reportedly held a secret meeting last week with the judge and deputy district attorney to discuss her ongoing felony grand theft case, according to Radar Online.

Lohan's lawyer reportedly asked how much time behind bars the Mean Girls star would have to serve if she enters a guilty plea at her preliminary hearing this Friday, but while the judge is said to have disclosed the figure, word of it

DUI charges dropped

The Los Angeles district attorney has officially dropped DUI charges against Matt Rutler, Christina Aguilera's boyfriend who was picked up for drunk driving last month, according to TMZ. Investigation found Rutler's blood alcohol was under the legal limit at the time. Aguilera was arrested for public intoxication the night of the incident, though no charges were filed against her either. ● METRO

Robison designed special-effect guitars for the band KISS in the 1970s, invented toys for Milton Bradley and now runs a highly-successful car shop specializing in Bentley's and Land Rovers.

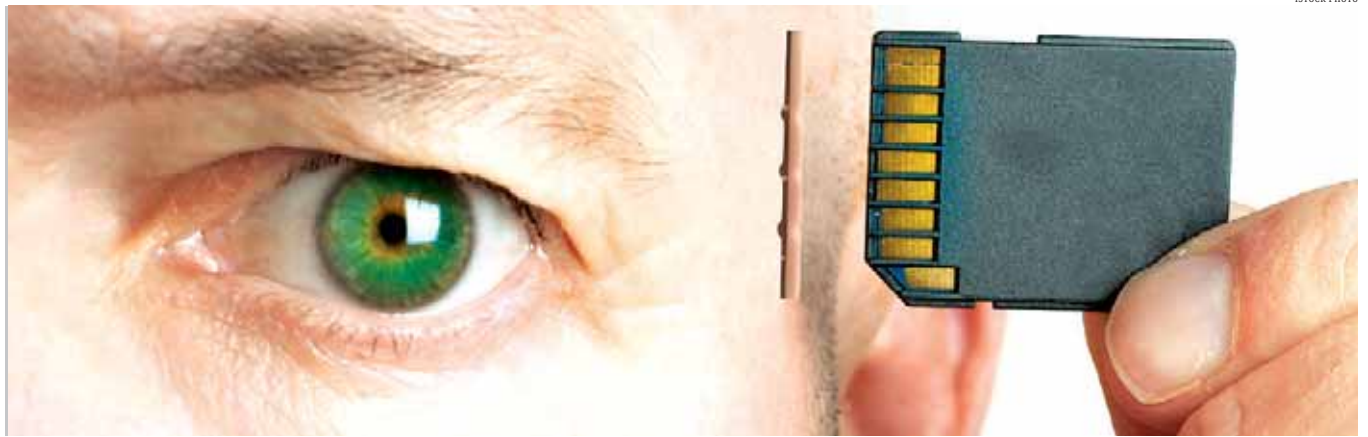

Bad at

Robison frequently disappoints or downright annoys other people without realizing it. He's unusually sensitive to the labels on his underwear, and he finds safety in ritualized behaviours.

Misfits, geeks, loners and people with Asperger's — take heart.

His new book Be Different: Adventures Of a Free-range Aspergian (Doubleday Canada) echoes his journey through a world in which he's always been different.

Robison is a person living with Asperger's, a disorder along the autism spectrum, which means he has non-standard wiring in the brain. He wants to give a message of hope and concrete advice to younger people who have trouble socially.

"When you are growing up and struggling to find friends and fit in, the future can seem very dark indeed. Yet people like me tend to do better as we get older and it's important for us to stand as inspirational role models for younger people," he tells Metro.

Through hard work, patience and diligence, he has developed "workarounds" for challenges that affect people like him. He studies ordinary people and learns to imitate their behaviour.

"When you are growing up and struggling to find friends and fit in, the future can seem very dark indeed."

JOHN ELDER ROBISON

He calls them nypicals, a short form of neurotypical, which is essentially any human who doesn't live in the autism spectrum.

Robison is the author of the bestselling memoir Look Me In the Eye, and his brother Augusten Burroughs wrote about their dysfunctional childhood in Running With Scissors.

"Simply making myself aware of others has remarkably improved my social life," he writes. "People accept me much faster now that I ignore them less. This process is a secret of my success, and that helped turn me from a self-centered loner into a pleasant eccentric with a number of friends."

Asperger's

Asperger's, and what it is at a glance.

▶ Aspergians are very focused on what interests them. It took Robison ages to realize that, in casual conversation, most people don't want to hear about the 66,000-horsepower diesel engines in ocean-going container ships.

▶ The Asperger's diagnosis is relatively new for the medical community. When Robison was a child, there was no diagnosis so he just thought he was a loner. He wasn't diagnosed until age 40.

De-stressing those tough days

Life is full of big moments and some big stresses go with it Below we offer tips on how to deal with all of it

1 You're on a first date

If you're just getting to know one another, have a glass of wine to lower your inhibitions and get the conversation going, says relationship expert Ian Kerner.

"You want to eat something simple like sushi that will allow you to talk without distraction. You also want to eat something light that doesn't fill you up or slow you down, such as chicken salad," he adds.

"For dessert, go for something sugary like a mango sorbet to get a boost of energy and a coffee, as long as it doesn't make you feel too jittery."

Date going poorly? Good thing you went to a self-serve restaurant.

2 You're baby is days overdue

If it's past the due date, sex and spicy foods may help bring on labour. But also try eating fresh pineapple (a few slices, to avoid stomach burn).

It contains the enzyme bromelain, which may trigger contractions by softening the connective tissue of the cervix.

3 You've got a big job interview

Work on your resumé, but also your diet. Dr. Gary

Wenk, author of Your Brain on Food, recommends "precursor-loading"

"Their purpose is to bias the function of the brain so that we perform better over the long term. Try tuna (it has tryptophan) and fava beans."

4 You're flashing some flesh

If you're uncomfortable naked, you'll need more help that we can provide at this time.

But here's a tip for the pasty: Load up on foods bursting with the antioxidant beta-carotene, whose red-orange pigment will give your skin a natural glow. Try kale, carrots, collards and basil.

5 You're having a big day

Whatever this may be — an exam, a new job — you need brainpower. Seaweed is rich in iodine, which staves off fatigue and depression. And the neurotransmitter acetylcholine improves memory. It's derived from choline, a B vitamin found in yolks.

NEW HOPE FOR

HAIR LOSS

Laser Hair Therapy

USING TLP™

TLP™ IS A "NEW" NON-SURGICAL SCIENTIFIC APPROACH FOR MEN AND WOMEN TO HELP CONTROL THINNING HAIR, BALDNESS AND PROBLEMS ASSOCIATED WITH THE SCALP.

This cold laser creates a soft halo of light around the scalp. Laser hair therapy is a medically tested, safe and proven method using low level laser energy, or "soft cold" laser light to effectively treat and control problem hair loss and encourage new growth.

WILL IT WORK FOR ME?

Laser Therapy is equally effective for both men and women. Most participants will see tangible response within a short period of time after commencing treatment, with results enhanced as the program continues.

In fact, past studies have shown a 93% increase in hair among the respondents using Cold Laser Therapy. For those clients not able to come to our clinic on a regular basis, a home laser program is available.

During your initial consultation and assessment, it will be determined if you are a good candidate for Laser Therapy. If so, your results are assured and backed by our exclusive guarantee.

Regrowing brain tissue

► Brain bypass surgery helping restore lost brain tissue, new study finds

Surgical treatment aimed at preventing the onset of strokes in high-risk patients has led to an unexpected outcome: helping to restore lost brain tissue, according to new Canadian research.

Neurosurgeons at the Krembil Neuroscience Centre at Toronto Western Hospital have been able to initiate the regrowth of lost brain tissue through brain bypass surgery.

The procedure is similar in concept to heart bypass surgery but is quite rare and performed at very select and few centres in North America, said study co-author Dr. Michael Tymianski, director of the neurovascular therapeutics program at the University Health Network.

LUNCH RUSH

STEPHANIE DICKISON
FOOD@METRONews.CA

If you don't think a plate of veggies can fill you up, you're wrong.

At least here at Rawlicious in Yorkville (there's also one in the Junction), the food is hearty enough that my companion and I can't finish our lunch.

The Daily Special Pizza ($10), studded with garden fresh zucchini, peppers and onions is served on warm, sprouted buckwheat crust and topped with tomato sauce and "cheese" made out of nuts. Usually, "healthy" crust is dry and tasteless, but this is moist, grainy-like cornmeal and surprisingly enjoyable.

The Zucchini Pasta ($9) is not made from semolina or wheat but is simply long, long strands of zucchini. Closely resembling extremely al dente fettuccine, it is dense and extremely chewy.

Which is why, despite the fresh, lemony basil pesto, neither of us can finish our portions.

For once, I am full without any of the heaviness.

It's a nice way to be.

► When it comes to timeshares, buy out of love, not because you want to make bucks off a future sale.

ON MONEY

ALISON GRIFFITHS
MONEY@METRONews.CA

Timeshares can be great vacation option – but don't expect to make money on the sale.

Spring is for love, rebirth, delightful bulbs blooming, dogs shedding and probably more fitness resolutions than are ever made in the New Year. It is also the season for timeshare regret. Over 77 per cent of timeshares are purchased between December and March. Come spring the second guessing begins.

Judy was one of the 77 per cent. "I bought a time share in Florida three years ago and now realize that with all the cheap inclusive packages being offered I probably jumped too fast without doing my homework. I am shelling out about $750 year for maintenance/fees. Should I try to sell it or hang on hoping home prices will go up eventually and sell later? I was a person who never took time for a vacation. At least now I do get away a couple of weeks and look forward to it."

First of all, about those cheap all-inclusives. On a family trip to the Mexican Riviera a few years ago I snagged a great bargain at a 5 Star resort advertised for $1050 a week per person. By the time we added in taxes, tips, a couple of facials and massages, an upgrade to an ocean view room, better wine and a sightseeing tour the real cost doubled. The economics of timeshares are like the economics of most purchases from clothes to cars. Buy because you like it, but don't expect to make a profit on any future sale.

On my television show, Maxed Out, I worked with a couple who bought a timeshare in Florida during a trip to Disney World and a few too many margaritas. After getting into financial trouble they eventually unloaded it, for 35 cents on the dollar. In their case, however, the maintenance, fees and return airfare had strained their resources to the point where they couldn't even use their weeks.

Judy is different. Judy is exactly the kind of person who should buy a timeshare. It forces her to take a holiday, she enjoys it and it sounds like she can afford it.

TAME THE CREDIT LINE

Credit lines are masked as good debt because they offer seductively low rates. But, unless they're used to purchase assets that are expected to grow (education, investments, and businesses), they're not!

Because they're easy to qualify for and access, they encourage 'incrementalism', layering on more, which translates into bad debt, a deal you can't afford. There's no pressure from the bank to pay off the principal; simply cover the interest. You can even borrow back everything you pay towards it.

You know you're abusing your credit line if; you can justify busting your budget for unplanned purchases like a new TV because you've got a low rate; if your bottom line isn't growing, but your credit line balance is; if your credit card is racked up each month because of overspending and you pay it off with a credit line rather than cash; if you find yourself unable to stop the $5,000 home renovation in the bathroom, and it creeps into new floors, cupboards and sparkling state-of-the-art appliances for the kitchen; or if you're expediting the purchase timeframe on major items like a car.

A low rate credit line doesn't solve a systemic overspending problem, it facilitates it.

Credit lines should only be used for good debt; to invest in stable assets. It's counterproductive to borrow back what you pay in principle.

Tame your credit line. Change your repayment plan so that the available credit reduces by the same amount as your payment; in essence turning it into a traditional loan. And, consider collapsing your home equity lines of credit into a fixed-rate mortgage. Rates are historically low and they won't stay there forever.

Unless you're drowning in expensive consumer debt (rates upwards of 10%), credit lines don't make sense; saving in advance does. Get off the credit line marigold round, reign in spending and pay off your debt.

How to get a reference letter

► An endorsement from one of your former professors can open doors when you're looking to land that new job

KELLY HINTON
TALENTEGG.CA

Talk to the professor in person

If possible, go see the prof rather than send an email. Professors are bombarded with dozens of emails on a daily basis from current students and colleagues, and they may not get to yours right away, or at all.

Furthermore, they are more likely to recognize you by your face and not your name.

It also shows you are serious about wanting the reference because you made the effort to come see them.

Go in with a purpose

The more information you give your professor about the opportunity you are seeking, the better and more detailed the letter will be. For job applications, you should also provide the professor with the job description and an up-to-date copy of your resumé.

Show your work

If you can, find and bring either an original marked-up and graded copy of an assignment you completed for the professor, or print a file that has been stored on your hard drive or USB key.

Professors meet hundreds of new students every year and may need a reminder of how amazing you were as a student.

Tell them why

If applying for a job, tell the professor why you are excited about the opportunity, which may help him or her to want to be part of the process.

If you don't ask, you won't know

Try not to be shy about asking, and remember that profs are there to help you. It is an unwritten rule that they write letters of reference for students. There is definitely no harm in asking. The worst that can happen is that they'll say no.

Say thank you and keep the prof updated on your progress. No matter what happens, whether you're admitted or rejected, hired or not, call, email or write your professor to say thank you.

And, if they show any interest in continuing to know how you're doing personally or professionally, take the opportunity to do so once in a while.

A fair amount of prep

► Make the most out of a career fair by reviewing your goals beforehand

JUDY WEIGHTMAN
METRO WORLD NEWS

"Have an agenda," says Cheretta Robson, assistant director of career development at St. Francis College in Brooklyn Heights.

Sophia Demetriou, director of the Career Center at City College of New York, agrees: "Find out what companies will be there, and decide which two or three you need to talk to."

Just dropping off a résumé isn't going to cut it. "Engage the person behind the table. Ask questions," instructs Marjorie Apel, director of Manhattan College's Center for Career Development.

Figuring out those questions in advance will be part of your preparation. But figuring out answers to the questions recruiters typically ask should be as well.

"Why do you want to work at this company?" and "What skills will make you successful here?" are common questions. Apel recommends that you think of specific answers for that company instead of relying on generalities or clichés.

Once you've talked to your top targets, don't just leave. "Go talk to everyone else," Demetriou urges. "There could be a company you're not even aware of that could have an even better opportunity."

After the fair, follow up with an e-mail or letter to everyone you talked to. Thank them for their time, and address any issues that were raised in your conversation. "This shows your persistence and interest," Robson says.

► Earn that dream job with a little persistence and a lot of forward thinking.

Flyers gaining steam in Buffalo

Brian Boucher stopped 35 shots as the Flyers' new starting goalie in helping Philadelphia grab a first-round playoff series lead with a 4-2 win over the Buffalo Sabres last night.

with two straight wins after a 1-0 series-opening loss Thursday. Game 4 is at Buffalo tomorrow.

Jeff Carter and Kimmo Timonen, with an empty-netter, also scored as the Flyers improved to 6-0-2 in their past eight visits to Buffalo, including the regular season.

Drew Stafford and Nathan Gerbe scored, but the Sabres never led.

Bruins strike back

► Put four past Canadiens goalie Carey Price on just 24 shots

David Krejci, Nathan Horton and Rich Peverley gave Boston a big lead last night and the Bruins held off a furious Montreal comeback to post a 4-2 victory over the Canadiens.

Montreal, which took the first two games in Boston, still leads the best-of-seven 2-1 with Game 4 set for Thursday night at the Bell Centre.

Andrei Kostitsyn and Tomas Plekanec scored for Montreal, which went on full attack in the third period against Bruins goaltender Tim Thomas, who looked shaky at times but made 34 saves in the win.

Chris Kelly ended the drama with an empty-net goal with 36 seconds left to play.

The crowd of 21,273 was roaring before the game even started, but the Canadiens seemed to lack focus against a closer checking Boston team than they had faced thus far in the series.

For the first time in the series, the Habs failed to get an early goal. Boston opened the scoring at 3:11 of the first when Patrice Bergeron set up Krejci in the slot to bury the Bruins' first shot of the game.

Zdeno Chara, who returned after missing Game 2 with dehydration, played his first game in Montreal since his controversial hit March 8 that left Habs winger Max Pacioretty with a concussion and a fractured vertebra.

The Bruins captain was booed loudly every time he touched the puck, but he got the same treatment even before the Pacioretty incident.

🟡 Red Sox starter Matsuzaka improves to 7-1 in his career against Toronto

Daisuke (Dice K) Matsuzaka wanted to impress his old pitching coach.

Did he ever.

Matsuzaka pitched one-hit ball for seven innings and Boston posted its third straight win, beating the Toronto Blue Jays and new manager John Farrell 9-1 yesterday in the Red Sox Patriots Day game.

"Farrell is on the other side so I wanted to show solid pitching in front of him," Matsuzaka said through a translator.

For four years with the Red Sox, Farrell tried to get Matsuzaka to attack hitters and reduce his pitch count.

Yesterday, Matsuzaka threw just 89 pitches against the Jays.

"He threw a very good game," Farrell said. "He's had a lot of success against Toronto in the past."

Entering the game with a 12.86 ERA in two starts, Matsuzaka permitted only two baserunners, matching a career best.

He got plenty of support as Jed Lowrie's four hits led a 13-hit, three-homer attack.

Lowrie hit his second homer, a two-run shot in the fifth off Ricky Romero (1-2) that made it 5-0, and finished with four RBIs.

Matsuzaka gave up a single to Jose Bautista in the first, then walked Travis Snider in the second before sitting down his final 16 batters. Yunel Escobar homered off Tim Wakefield in the ninth.

TFC training facility to be 'world-class'

On a day long on suits and speeches, assistant coach Bob de Klerk bucked the trend by going straight to a white board to show what a new $17.5-million academy and training facility means for Toronto FC.

Marking positions by number, the intense Dutch coach laid out the 11 players on the soccer team — each with specific responsibilities.

"With each number, with each position, they know what to do with the ball and without the ball," de Klerk told a news conference at BMO Field yesterday.

At TFC, it's one team, one playing style — whether it's the first team or the youth team.

Colangelo hopes to stay in T.O.

It has become a familiar routine for Toronto Raptors general manager Bryan Colangelo.

He focused on the positives at his season-ending media availability yesterday, less than a week after his team wrapped up another disappointing season.

Colangelo pointed to the bright future of the young squad he has assembled while accepting some blame for the team's record.

"You ride the highs and you ride the lows," he said.

Finishing with a 22-60 record was not how Colangelo wanted to enter his contract year, with his current deal set to expire in June.

"If I'm here and I'm able to finish it, that's my preference," he said. "If I'm not here, I know that I'm going to walk out of here with my head high knowing that I did everything I could while I was here, acting in the best interests of this organization and, hopefully, representing the city well."

Sudoku

How to play

Fill in the grid, so that every row, every column and every 3x3 box contains the digits 1-9. There is no math involved. You solve the puzzle with reasoning and logic.

Moezy Habibi, I'm sorry for everything I have done and I love you lots <3 please forgive me and love me again xoxo
From S.B.

Joseph, this is more than a crush, there is no doubt that this is true love. I wrote you this poem... There I saw you glistening in the sun Hoping one day we will become one Your invading voice lacing through my head I love you boy- hope-fully one day you will see that I fantasize having my fingers running through your silky mane Waiting to find out if you love me is driving me literally insane my empty arms reach out for you Joseph, if you read this, I hope you won't find it wierd....I love you Joseph.....I just wish I could say it to your face.

From ANONYMOUS GIRL FROM SKOOL

Today's horoscope

♈ Aries March 21-April 20
Someone will change their plans today and you won't be too happy about it.
♉ Taurus April 21-May 21
If you want a straight answer to you will likely be disappointed.
♊ Gemini May 22-June 21
Make sure you keep track of where your money is going today.
♋ Cancer June 22-July 22
Some people will be vocal in their opposition to your plans today but don't let that stop you.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 23
Don't push yourself harder than you have to just to make yourself look good.
♍ Virgo Aug. 24-Sept. 22
You may have doubts about the path you are on but you also have the courage to keep at it.
♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23
If someone in a position of authority is critical of your work you must not let it get to you.
♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22
See the amusing side in what happens today.

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21
Don't ignore your instincts if something feels off.
♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20
Remind the doubters that, as far as you are concerned, nothing in life is impossible.
♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18
Why the negative attitude? Whatever the reason you must snap out of it.
♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20.
Don't be afraid to ask friends and family for financial help if you need it. ● SALLY BROMPTON
